THE MOORES OF MOOREVILLE, YORK TOWNSHIP, WASHTENAW COUNTY, MICHIGAN

Research by Martha Carr, Ypsilanti, Michigan

8. William Austin, born 17 April 1823, in Clifton Springs, New York, married 5 December 1854 Laura J. VanHusan. She was born 12 March 1837 in Saline, Michigan, daughter of Caleb, a merchant of Saline and later of Detroit, and died 30 July 1911. William prepared for college by studying in Ypsilanti for two years. In 1846 William entered The University of Michigan and graduated in 1850. He taught school in Mississippi for one and one-half or two years. In 1852 William moved to Detroit where he lived with his sister, Lucy Jenness, about a year. He joined the law practice of Davidson & Holbrook and in 1853 passed the bar exam. He was a Deputy U.S. Marshall 1853-57 and U.S. District Attorney 1857-1861. For several years he practiced general law (Moore & Griffin), but later decided to specialize in admiralty law dealing with violations of navigation laws such as property damage, delay of commerce and loss of life (Moore, Canfield & Warner). William became very successful and was called to such cities as Buffalo, Cleveland, Chicago, and Milwaukee to handle cases. In his later years he retired from court trials but remained in his office as an advisor. William's civic contributions are too numerous to name but include: member of the Detroit Board of Education 1859-1865 during which he was president for three and one-half years, president of the Young Men's Society (a precursor to the YMCA) in 1860, member of the Michigan Historical Society, member of the first board of trustees of the Detroit Museum of Art, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee 1864-68, member of the Democratic National Executive Committee 1868-76, 1881-1887 a member of the board of park commissioners, member of several boards of directors of banks and insurance companies. 1882-1906 a trustee of Kalamazoo College from which he received an honorary degree in 1900, member of the Lafayette (later the Woodward Avenue) Baptist Church.

   For many years William's home was at 1015 Woodward Avenue. Through the years several children and grandchildren of his siblings and cousins stayed in William's home for various lengths of time. William died 25 September 1906, aged 83, from complications which developed after he fell and broke his leg while alighting from his carriage upon returning home from his office. He is buried in Elmwood Cemetery, Detroit. Among the many tributes to him, the Bench and Bar of Michigan adds, "He is a gentleman of commanding presence and fine physique whose dignified reserve may impress a stranger as austerity of demeanor though he is in reality kind and gentle as well as charitable."

   William had one child - William Van born 3 December 1856, who graduated from The University of Michigan in 1878, joined his father's law firm and married Jane C. Andrews of Fenton, Michigan.

9. Lucy Jane, born August 1825, married 6 August 1850 at York John Sedgwick Jenness (15 October 1811-22 April 1885). They resided first in Detroit where John owned a wholesale and retail crockery business. About 1860 they moved to Ypsilanti when the large brick home they had built at 324 W. Forest was completed. Lucy died 21 or 24 February 1863, aged 37, and is buried in Ypsilanti's Highland Cemetery, block 93. Lucy had six children, two died as infants: Henry resided in Detroit and married Lillie Burt, Flora married D.A. Matthews and resided in St. Paul, Minnesota, and Omaha, Nebraska, Emily married first Smith Saunders and second Charles D. Parmalee and resided in Iowa, Lucy married Rev. Howell S. Sayles of Chicago.

10. Henry Wallace, born 28 November 1828, was York Township Treasurer in 1850 and is listed as a teacher in the U.S. Census 1850. He moved to Ypsilanti and went into the crockery business in Detroit for several years with his sister's husband, John S. Jenness. In 1860 Henry was a boarder in an Ypsilanti Hotel, Washtenaw House, and apparently not yet married. The 1860 City Directory of Ypsilanti lists him as being in the crockery and glassware business on the corner of Congress and Washington Streets. Henry died of lung congestion 20 October 1866, aged 38, and is buried in Mooreville Cemetery. His obituary states, "The 'Major' as he was usually called, was of a social turn and had many friends." In his probate papers his widow's name was deciphered as Mary. No children were listed as heirs; only his wife and brother William A. were mentioned. Many of the papers in Henry's probate file were too faded to read; there were several IOU notes for large amounts signed by him.

LOREN MOORE

Loren (Washington, William, John, Samuel) was born 23 April 1802 in Orleans, Ontario County, New York. He was the first child of Washington Moore (25 September 1778-25 May 1856) and Susanna Rice (16 February 1781-1 April 1852). Susanna was the daughter of Caleb Rice and Lucy Leland of Phelps, Ontario County, New York, and the sister of Lucy Rice, William Moore's wife. On 15 April 1824 Loren married Philena Amsden, born 18 July 1801, the daughter of Isaac Amsden and Elizabeth Gates (my great 5 grandparents) of Flint Creek, Ontario County, New York. In June 1831, Loren Moore purchased 160 acres of land, the northeast quarter of Section 30, in what was to become York Township, and moved his family there two months later in September. Loren became the first deacon of the newly formed First Baptist Church of Mooreville in 1832, He sold his property and retired to Ann Arbor in 1864, buying a house at 25 S. Fifth Avenue. Philena died in Syracuse, New York, in January 1873, aged 71, from the effects of heart disease. Loren married second Lucinda Ryder Parks on 27 January 1876 in Ann Arbor. He died 5 May 1881 at the age of 79 due to asthma after being confined to his home for over a year. He is buried in Mooreville Cemetery. The eight children of Loren and Philena were:

1. George W., born 12 March 1825 in Phelps, Ontario County, New York, married first 13 December 1846 Caroline Hunt (13 December 1825-23 November 1866), daughter of Timothy Hunt, a teacher of Lodi Township. Their children were Emily married Dr. Nathan David Yale of Deerfield, Lenawee County, Ellen married Samuel Clifford Robinson, lawyer and farmer of Lexington, Kentucky, Mary (2 June 1852-8 January 1853), and Lydia (23 November 1853-15 May 1856). George married second Jane Hunt on 10 March 1857, daughter of John and Sophia Fish Hunt. She was born 13 July 1833 and died 5 September 1864. Their children were Arthur J. born 16 January 1858, a resident of Furnaceville, Indiana, at the time of his father's death. A mining engineer, he also lived in Mexico and was in charge of silver mines; later he resided at Gouverneur, New York, and Addie Sophia born 18 March 1860 married first Fred S. Anderson and second Austin Alvord of Battle Creek. It was about the time of his second marriage that George moved to Ann Arbor. His profession changed from farmer to grocer. His partner in the grocery business was Frank Sperry. George married third Emily Barnes on 4 March 1865. She was born 22 August 1837 and died 16 September 1923 in Midland, Michigan. Later in his life George became a bookkeeper for C. Eberbach Hardware in Ann Arbor. He died 14 December 1902 in Ann Arbor after a long illness. George and his wives are buried in Lodi Cemetery, Washtenaw County.

2. Amanda died 11 December 1833 age 7 years, 1 month, 2 days and is buried in Mooreville Cemetery.

3. Mary Jane married 16 July 1850 at York James D. Alexander of Wayne (in 1850 a student living with his wife and in-laws); she died 30 October 1851, age 23, and is buried in Mooreville Cemetery. Son George L. in 1870 was living with Loren and Philena in Ann Arbor and attending school; in 1902 resided in Grayling, Michigan.

4. Henry C. died 3 November 183-, age 3 years, 5 months, 2 days and is buried in Mooreville Cemetery.

5. Elizabeth Gates married James D. Alexander, M.D. on 19 October 1853, died 18 September 1854, age 22, in Wayne and is buried in Mooreville Cemetery. Daughter Elizabeth Alexander in 1870 was living with Loren and Philena in Ann Arbor and attending school; in 1902 resided in Honolulu, Hawaii.

6. Charles H., born 11 September 1834, attended Kalamazoo College 1854-57 and married Sarah Butterfield. He resided first in Ann Arbor where he was a produce merchant 1858-61, served in the Civil War, then settled in Detroit where he continued in the produce business; for about five years he was a partner with Everett Moore, Lyman's son. He became a Deputy U.S. Marshal 1892-1901, and then was employed as a statistical agent for the State Board Fish Commission. He died in Detroit 25 December 1913. One obituary states he would be buried in Hamburg, Livingston County, Michigan. A Sarah Butterfield Moore, 1840-1903, is buried in the Hamburg Village Cemetery, but there appears to be no stone for Charles.

   Their children were: Anna (died young), Carrie married James Gordon Campbell and resided New York City, Sarah married Melville William Carruth and resided Tampa, Florida, Fannie married James Stewart Hastings and resided Chicago, Philena married Henry Holbrook Doty and resided Highland Park, Illinois, Charles Harry married Blanche Coffman and resided Chicago, Achsah married James Stewart Hastings and resided Hastings, Michigan, and Glen Ellyn, Illinois, and Winifred resided Chicago.

7. Philena, born 11 April 1837, was listed in 1860, age 23, as a student.

However, no indication was found that she ever had an occupation. She lived in her parents' home until her father's death, received one-third of his estate, and bought a house for herself at 42 S. Fifth Avenue. in Ann Arbor. In the early 1890s Philena is not listed in city directories nor in the county census. However, in the 1900 census and in later city directories the word "physician" is included after her name. Specified in her will is that her medical books be given to her nephew, Charles Stone. One source states that Philena went to medical school in Chicago but that poor health prevented her from practicing. Philena died 13 November 1901 after a long illness. Having been treated at the University of Michigan Hospital, she died at St. Joseph Retreat, a private mental institution in Dearborn, Michigan. She is buried in Mooreville Cemetery.

8. Caroline (Carrie), born January 1839, graduated from Kalamazoo College in 1863 and in that same year married Clement W. Stone, eldest son of the college president. Clement served in the Civil War from August 1861 to August 1865, attaining the rank of captain in the 6th Michigan Infantry. He founded the first daily newspaper in Kalamazoo, the Kalamazoo Telegraph, and worked on the paper for several years. Later Clement left the paper and practiced law, serving in the state legislature for one term, 1877-78. The family lived in Roscommon County, Michigan, part of this time. He died in 1887 after which Caroline moved to Ann Arbor with her children. They lived with her sister, Philena, while her children finished public school and attended The University of Michigan. By the last half of the 1890s Caroline and Philena lived in a large house at 416 S. Fifth Avenue and boarded University of Michigan students in their home. Caroline's children were Charles, a dentist in Saginaw, married Louise Shirmer, and Carrie Lucille, a teacher, married Benjamin Braun at Ann Arbor and resided in Harvey, and then Oak Park, Illinois, where Caroline lived in her later years. Caroline was buried 12 October 1927 in the Stone family plot in Kalamazoo's Mountain Home Cemetery, lot 176, block O.P.

DIE DEUTSCHEN IN ANN ARBOR: A BOOK OF RESEARCH AND REFLECTION

Contributed by Rosalyn Breitenwischer

Several years ago, the GSWC's German Interest Group had the opportunity to visit with a young German scholar from the Universitat-Gesamthochschule Paderborn, Achim Geldmacher. A student of social sciences, Mr. Geldmacher held a keen interest in the migrations of Germans to the Ann Arbor, Michigan, area. The Group spent an engaging time in conversation with Mr. Geldmacher. Members recounted their ancestors' precarious voyages across the sea and subsequent lifestyles once in America. They recalled traditions long held and still carried on by descendants, such as the distinctive German foods, especially baked goods at Christmas.

In the course of his time here, Mr. Geldmacher met with numerous groups having German ties as well as interviewing individuals. He also spent hours at libraries and archives to study. In 1993, his extensive research culminated in the publication of Die Deutschen in Ann Arbor; eine Studie uber das Leben deutscher Einwanderer in den USA, 1810-1918. [The Germans in Ann Arbor; a study about the life of the German immigrant in the USA, 1810-1918.]

The book looks at migration from the perspective of certain sociological models and theories. It begins with a review of the existing literature on the subject of migration, in particular, migration from Germany. Mr. Geldmacher sets out to explore the extent and reasons for emigration, followed by an account of the German settlement of Washtenaw County. He gathers together such statistics as census of population, agricultural and industrial production, and occupation percentages. Although he cites figures from numerous townships within the County, for example, at one time Freedom was the most German of all the townships in population, his study focuses on the City of Ann Arbor and the Townships of Ann Arbor and Scio. Yet, Mr. Geldmacher goes beyond the purely statistical approach to also reveal the actual life for the people as experienced on both sides of the Atlantic. He considers the immigrant church affiliations, schools, and social and political involvements. Events such as the German-American Days held in Ann Arbor and Manchester in the 1890s are viewed in terms of the part they played in the gradual assimilation process. Of particular interest to the genealogist, the text is dotted throughout with many German surnames of the area, both municipal and rural. In some instances short biographies are included. Mr. Geldmacher recognizes the contributions of Germans to the development and growth of Ann Arbor.

Of special note is the bibliography at the end of the book. An impressive sixteen pages in length, it includes sources familiar to the local genealogist or historian as well as sources not so familiar. It even references our own Family History Capers.

Scholarly and well documented, Die Deutschen in Ann Arbor not only presents a case for sociological interpretation, but also provides a good historical account of just what happened to some of those who left the homeland destined for America a century and more ago. The 442 page work is published by Verlag

Die Blaue Eule of Essen, Germany. One local holding where this text may be viewed is The University of Michigan Hatcher Library. And our young student? Mr. Geldmacher, back in Germany, is now a teacher at the Waldorfschule Schloss Hamborn.
